OUTLINES.

The principal feature at the trial of Judge Loving at Houston, Va., yesterday, for the murder of Theodore Estes, was the story of Miss Elizabeth Loving, who told of the circumstances which made her father hunt down the young man and shoot him to death; Judge Loving also went on the stand and told the reasons for his deed and related his version of the tragedy.——Intense heat in Pittsburg has caused the death of 14 people since Sunday. ——The Washington government has ordered the dispatch of the big new cruiser Milwaukee and two other warships to Central America, owing to the possibility of serious trouble growing out of the alleged ambition of President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, to conquer the several Central American republics and combine them into a union. ——The last body of the 11 victims of the launch disaster in Hampton Roads, that of Seaman Frank B. Plumlee, was recovered yesterday. ——Secretary of War Taft spent some time at Oyster Bay with President Roosevelt yesterday, and among other things he sated that it would be about 18 months before Cuba would be ready to elect a President so the American troops can be withdrawn. ——The executive committee of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, at New York, yesterday sent a communication to the Postal Telegraph Company, suggesting that the grievances of its operators be heard and discussed, and accusing the company of violating its agreement in Chicago. ——Before the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday 37 petitions were filed, asking that several railroads be compelled to make reparation to shippers for overcharges on shipments of yellow pine to Northern markets. ——New York markets: Money on call, easy 2 1-2 to 3 per cent.; ruling rate, 3; closing bid, 2 1-3; offered at 3; spot cotton, 10 points higher, closing firm at 13.10; flour, dull, and about steady; wheat, steady; No. 2 red, 93 3-8 elevator; corn, easy; No. 2, 63 elevator; turpentine and rosin, steady.

Japan makes a noise like she wants all her people to immigrate to the United States.

It is about time for some people to learn enough of the golden rule that they may be able to keep out of the hands of the officer with the peonage warrant.

President Roosevelt wrote to E. H. Harriman "We are both practical men," and then turned right around and rocked the boat so there wouldn't be but one practical man left to tell the tale.

It is stated by a contemporary that E. H. Harriman "is without friends." No doubt some men wanted to be his friends, but Harriman couldn't see his way clear to always be lending money.

An Oregon man who stole a whole railroad train has been put in jail. His lack of ability makes a sorry showing alongside of a man who can steal a whole railroad and get off at it.

It is said that Senator Beveridge is fond of debate and will go out of his way to hunt up one. It is announced that he is to be married and here goes a prediction that matrimony will provide him a debater that will always be ready for him when he gets in a disputative mood.

Our Summer weather of the past few days is more desirable than the Winter weather still prevailing in the Great Lake country, and out West. On Sunday 15 inches of snow fell at Butte, Mont. The snow melted next day and the slush was awful. Think of a June snow storm!

Says the Durham Herald: "It is said that Mr. Butler is ace high with the big Republicans in Washington, and it seems that the Republicans in this State have found it out." That probably explains why Republican State Chairman Adams went to sawing wood.

Senator Morgan's death is very deeply felt in Alabama. In fact, some men haven't had a wink of sleep on account of it, fearing that if they don't keep their eyes skinned they will run the risk of missing the honor of being that eminent statesman's successor in the United States Senate.

Says the Washington Post: "Abuses will be reformed if the Republican party holds legislative power in the Sixty-First Congress. But the stndpatters may prevent that by aiding in the election of a Democratic House." The Republicans have had about 22 Congresses under which the abuses grew and were fostered. If they could get rid of the standpatters, perhaps we might trust the Sixty-First Congress in their hands. However, the people know that the standpatters will fight shy of the Democratic party as usual.

AFTERNOON WEDDING

WEDDED ON YESTERDAY

Library of Congress

Fifth Street Methodist Church Scene of Pretty and Impressive Ceremony, Joining in Marriage Popular oung People.

Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal Church has been distinguished in recent years by no prettier or more impressive wedding ceremony than that yesterday afternoon at half after 5 o'clock, when Mr. James Sprunt Williams, one of Wilmington's most popular young business men, led to the altar Miss Mamie Louise McGirt, the attractive young daughter of Mrs. Mary E. McGirt, of this city, and they were made man and wife in a pretty service spoken by the Rev. T. A. Smoot, of Durham, N. C., brother-in-law of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Kenneth D. Holmes, pastor of the congregation. The church edifice, beautifully decorated in the predominating colors of green and white, was filled to overflowing with admiring friends and relatives of the young people to the marriage vow. Mrs. Mattie Chasten was at the organ and played a number of selections as the ushers were seating the expectant guests, promptly at the hour named the wedding march having announced the approach of the bridal party. First down each aisle came the groomsmen by twos, crossing over at the chancel and taking their positions at the altar. These were Messrs. W. H. Dock, W. A. McGirt, David K. LeGwin and J. J. Adkins, Jr., and they were immediately followed down either aisle by the little ribbon children, Miss Thelma Brooks and Master Thos. A. Smoot, Jr., both clad in snowy white and making a pretty picture. Next to enter was the dame of honor, Mrs. T. A. Smoot, of Durham, a sister of the bride, followed by the charming little ring bearer in the person of Master Edward Smoot, of Durham, bearing the token upon a white satin cushion. Then the maid of honor, Miss Addie Adkins, entered and was immediately followed by the bride, accompanied by her brother, Mr. H. S. McGirt, by whom she was given away. At the end of the aisle the bride was met by the groom, who entered from the pastor's study with his best man, Mr. Thos. R. Orrell. When all had taken their positions the pretty ceremony proceeded and was exceptionally pretty and impressive, each plighting to the other their troth according to the beautiful service of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The bride was becomingly gowned in tan voile with hat to match, and carried a lovely bunch of bride's roses. She was extremely pretty, and was, of course, the centre of admiration for the large number assembled to witness the pretty nuptial event.

Mrs. Smoot, the dame of honor, wore a beautiful creation of white lace over white satin, with large white picture hat, and carried bridesmaid roses.

Miss Adkins, the maid of honor, was pretty in a lovely gown of chiffon organdie, with large white picture hat and also carried bridesmaid roses.

The male attendants wore the conventional black coats, white vests and striped trousers with boutonnieres of white carnations.

Mendelssohn's Wedding March announced the conclusion of the marriage ceremony and the bridal party repaired with the bride and groom to the home of Mrs. McGirt, Fourth and Nun streets, where an elaborate reception was given and where Mr. and Mrs. Williams received the happiest felicitations of a great many friends. An exceptionally large number of very handsome wedding gifts were received and these were greatly admired by the large number of guests who called during the evening. Shortly before 7 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Williams were accompanied in carriages to the Front street station of the Atlantic Coast Line, whence they took their departure for a wedding tour of two weeks or longer, which will be spent in Atlantic City, New York, Philadelphia, Niagara Falls, Washington, Baltimore and other points of interest North. Upon their return they will be at home at No. 326 South Fourth street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Williams are they popular in Wilmington, where they are well known. The bride is a young lady of many accomplishments and is of a most charming personality, much loved and adimred in a wide circle of friends, who will be pleased to receive her upon her return as Mrs. Williams.

The groom is a son of Capt. and Mrs. Edgar D. Williams, and is engaged with his father in the extensive interests of the Diamond Steamboat & Wrecking Company, of this port. He is also interested in the mercantile business of the J. W. Fleet Company and by his affable manner and strict integrity has drawn to himself many warm personal friends, who will extend their most sincere congratulations upon the happy union which he has just entered for life.

Monday evening members of the wedding party yesterday were elegantly entertained at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Williams, on South Sixth street.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding besides those named in the party were Capt. and Mrs. L. D. Potter, of New York; Miss May McCullen, of Durham; Mr. M. C. Guthrie, Miss Viola Guthrie and Miss Ellan Windsor, of Southport.

MORE REVENUE FOR CITY

Act of Last Legislature Requires County to Pay Costs In All Cases Where Defendants Are eSntenced to the Roads.

William E. Springer yesterday had a conference with Chairman D. McEachern, of the County Commissioners, with reference to the act passed at the late session of the Legislature requiring the county to pay all costs in cases of prisoners sent by magistrates to the county roads or bound over to the Superior Court and subsequently sent to the chain gang. For years the bulk of the convicts at work on the county roads have come from the Mayor's court, either directly or indirectly, and the city has not received one cent of revenue from these cases. Under the terms of the new act the county is required to pay the costs of all such cases to the magistrate sending the case over. The Mayor is ex-officio a magistrate in his capacity of presiding officer of the police court and hereafter these costs will be paid through Mayor Springer into the city treasury.

It is conservatively estimated that the additional revenue the city will receive from this source will be $1,200 or $1,500 per year. On account of the fines and forfeitures paid into the school fund, the city has been receiving very little revenue from the police court in the past though it has to maintain the police force and bear the expenses of feeding the prisoners, etc. Under the new law, the police court will be nearer a self-sustaining institution at least so far as the municipality is concerned.

At the conference yesterday Chairman McEachern told the Mayor he would cheerfully pay to the city the amount of costs in each case sent to the roads or to the higher court and the fees are very definitely set out in the act, making from $3 to $4 in each case so disposed of.

A SURPRISE WEDDING.

Miss Rowena McKeithan the Bride of Mr. Samuel Burriss on Sunday.

A marriage of much interest to many friends in Wilmington and elsewhere and one which will come with pleasant surprise to a great many was that of Miss Rowena McKeithan, of this city, and Mr. Samuel Burriss, of Southport, a popular young employe of the government on the yards in this city. The bride, who has been on an extended visit to friends and relatives in Philadelphia, arrived in the city on the evening train Sunday and was met by the groom at the station. They had been engaged for some time and it was decided that the marriage should take place at once. Accordingly they proceeded at once to the parsonage of Bladen Street M. E. Church, where they were united in a simple, but very pretty, ceremony performed by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Parker. The bride was attended by Miss Ennett as maid of honor and the groom as best man by his brother. After the ceremony Mr. Mrs. Burriss received the happiest congratulations of friends. They will make their home in this city and in Southport in both of which places they have a large number of friends.

THE CHARLOTTE EXCURSION

Pritchard Memorial Sunday School on Its Annual Outing Today.

The annual excursion of the Pritchard Memorial Baptist Sunday School of Charlotte is expected here over the Seaboard Air Line this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The train will leave Charlotte this morning at 7:30 o'clock and arrangements have been made for a fast run through to the coast. The Observer of yesterday says that the prospects are that the excursion will equal if not eclipse any of the former excursions. It will be the only big excursion to reach Wilmington this year and for that reason more than the ordinary interest attaches to the visit. The round trip rate from Charlotte is $3 with a rate of $1.75 for children and these figures will doubtless attract a large crowd. The visitors will spend a day and a half on the coast, returning Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Arrangements have been made for taking the party out for a trip down the Cape Fear river and to Fort Caswell, leaving the city at 9:15 o'clock Thursday morning.

Wants to Return to His Home.

There is at the police station a young Hungarian named Jersef Yarstin, son of an editor of one of the leading papers at Budapest. The young man came to Wilmington, accepted work in one of the saw mills near Wilmington, but being unaccustomed to hard manual labor has given out under the strain. He is now quartered at the police headquarters, a very home-sick youth. If any kindly disposed person would provide him with the means to get in communication with his father at Budapest he would appreciate the favor as he is without means, unable to work and there is no consul of his government here to whom he can appeal for aid.

GREEN AND WHITE

Beautiful Home Wedding Ceremony Celebrated in Wilmington Yesterday Afternoon.

A RECEPTION FOLLOWING

Miss Alice Charles-Craft, Accomplished Young Lady of This City, Bride of Mr. John Paul Lucas, of Winston-Salem—Service.

Elegant in its every appointment and charming for the beauty of its environment, the marriage of Miss Alice Charles-Craft, of this city, and Mr. John Paul Lucas, of Winston-Salem, yesterday afternoon at half after four o'clock at the pretty home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Charles-Craft, Sixth and Chesnut streets, was an event of special interest to a great many friends not only in this city but elsewhere throughout the State. While the marriage ceremony proper was witnessed only by the relatives and intimate friends of the young people to the marriage vow, a large number of other friends were received at an elegant reception which followed until 7 o'clock when the bride and groom left on the northbound Atlantic Coast Line train for their home in Winston-Salem, a bridal tour having been necessarily deferred on account of a pressing business engagement of the groom, who is editor of the Winston-Salem Journal.

The parlors of th Charles-Craft home were most attractively decorated for the occasion, the prevailing colors having been green and white. A charming effect was reached in graceful festoons of ivy from the four corners of the ceiling converging at the chandelier in centre, while at the base of a perfect bower of palms, ferns and flowers at an advantageous position in the room was a beautifully improvised altar where the couple plighted their troth each to the other. On each side of the parlor was a pyramid of candles in handsomely polished candelabra, shedding a soft glow over as pretty a wedding scene as was ever witnessed in this city. Miss Cannie Chasten presided at the piano and the skilful execution of a bridal chorus from Lohengrin heralded the approach of the wedding party. The bride entered with her father by whom she was given away in a beautiful ring service and she was attended as maid of honor by her friend, Miss Mitchell Waddill, of Carthage, who was charmingly attired in pink liberty satin and carried pink roses. The groom was attended as best man by his friend, Mr. Henry A. Page, Jr., of Aberdeen, and these were the only members of the bridal party, though a number of Miss Charles-Craft's friends in school were present as special guests.

When the party had formed the ensemble at the altar the bride's pastor, the Rev. N. M. Watson, of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, spoke the solemn words that made them man and wife while Miss Chasten played softly with beautiful effect "Traumerei." The service over, the strains of the ever popular Mendelssohn's Wedding March filled the room and Mr. and Mrs. Lucas were showered with the happy felicitations of the friends assembled. The bride wore white crepe de chine trimmed with pearls and lace and was pretty indeed, the marriage scene having been a veritable picture of beauty.

Following the ceremony the reception began in the handsomely appointed rooms of the home. In the parlors the receiving party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Charles-Craft, parents of the bride; Mrs. Monte Lucas, of Charlotte, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lucas, Miss Waddill, the maid of honor, and Mr. Henry A. Page, the best man. From the parlors the guests were ushered into the dining room where the decorations were beautiful in pink and white, the colors being carried out in hydrangeas in bowls and pink carnations with pink candelabra for lighting effect. Dainty refreshments were served by Miss Mary Thomas, of Martinsville, Va., Miss Emeth Tuttle, of Rocky Mount; Miss Lois Lucas, of Charlotte, sister of the groom, and Miss Della Cline, of Wilmington. From the dining room guests were received in the library by Miss Maude Bulluck, of Wilmington; Miss Alice Franklin, of Durham, and Miss Julia Minor, of Oxford, who presided over an elegant frappe bowl In the library were displayed a large number of very handsome presents, gifts of friends of the bride and groom.

After the reception, which was one of infinite delight for all who attended, the bride and groom repaired to the Front street station of the Atlantic Coast Line, accompanied by the large party of friends, whence the couple departed amid a shower of rice and well wishes for their future home at Winston-Salem, an anticipated wedding trip having been necessarily deferred on account of Mr. Lucas' engagement with the extensive improvements to the Journal. They will be at home after Thursday at the Hotel Frances, in Winston, and later in the Summer will spend some time in Western North Carolina.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding other than those mentioned above were Miss Nan Goodson, of Kinston; Mrs. C. I. Robinson, of Clear Run, and Mrs. W. C. Matthews, of Rose Hill.

The bride is one of Wilmington's most charming young women and is much loved and admired for her splendid attainments and accomplishments as well as for her delightful personality. A wide circle of friends in Wilmington will regret that her marriage carries her elsewhere to live and hope that her visits to her old home in Wilmington will be many and often.

Mr. Lucas is one of the States' most able and versatile young newspaper men, formerly of the staff of the Charlotte Observer, now editor and one of the owners of the Winston Journal, which is to be made one of the leading newspapers of Piedmont North Carolina. He has a host of friends in the State and all of them will congratulate him upon his good fortune in winning the hand and heart of one so fair.

MAYOR'S COURT YESTERDAY

Interesting Case In Connection With Eastern Star Hall.

In the Mayor's Court yesterday J. H. Shaw, colored, who has charge of the renting of the Eastern Star Hall, which place was ordered closed several days ago, was tried on the charge of maintining a nuisance. There were a dozen witnesses who live in the neighborhood of the hall. Shaw was represented by John D. Bellamy, Esq. and through him waived examination, and was bound over to the higher court under $100 bond. The warrant was sworn out against him on the ground that as he represented the directors, he was responsible for the disorderly conduct alleged to have featured entertainments at the hall in the past.

Other offenders were Hattie Pearson and Johnson Mills, charged with disorderly conduct, who were fined $5 and costs each. Jos. Edwards charged with being drunk, to pay the costs. Carrie Pearson, larceny of $5 from another negro, bound over to the Superior Court under a $25 bond. Peterson Evans, charged with recklessly riding a bicycle was taxed with the costs. Evans is employed at the Murchison National Bank and was sent to the depot with the morning mail under instructions to catch the train at any cost. He was "carrying a message to Garcia" and his employers promptly paid the costs assessed against him.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Special Meeting Last Night at City Hall Not Especially Interesting.

LIQUOR LICENSES GRANTED

Renewals For Six Months Ensuing, July 1st—Alderman Wood Injected Some Little Spice into Proceedings—The Streets.

The special meeting of the Board of Aledermen last night was not specially interesting. Through some misunderstanding the Street Commission did not appear as a body to confer relative to the street repair work, as was expected, and about the only business of importance transacted was the renewal of liquor licenses for the six months ensuing July 1st. Alderman Wood interjected a little spice into the proceedings with propositions not to grant licenses to saloons within 200 feet of a church and to limit the hours of keeping saloons open, but neither of the propositions was entertained by the Board.

The Board was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock, Mayor Springer presiding and all members being present. The Mayor stated the object of the meeting, and the first matter taken up was that of hearing applications for renewal of licenses to retail liquor in the city. Chairman O'Brien, of the special committee appointed to examine the applications and see that all were in due form before being presented to the Board, made report saying that each license application had been carefully examined by the committee with the assistance of the City Clerk and Treasurer, Assistant City Clerk and Treasurer, and the City Attorney, and that 60 of the number had been found in due form. The Clerk read the list as approved. Alderman Northrop at the conclusion of the reading, said that during the afternoon some objection had developed to granting license for a saloon at Seventh and Market streets, now kept by Mr. Brunjes, but he had informed the complainants that they were too late. However, he said he would give notice that the next time he would vote against the granting of a license here. The objection was not to the applicant, but to the location.

Mr. O'Brien said that all the licenses were granted on condition that the business be conducted in a quiet and orderly manner, according to law. He saw no grounds for objection, and moved that the applications be granted as a whole.

Mr. Wood asked the City Attorney if there was not a law against granting a license for a saloon within 200 feet of a church. City Attorney Bellamy replied that a law was passed by the last Legislature making the granting of such licenses discretionary with the Board, but that New Hanover county was exempted from the operation of the law. He thought the law a proper one and would like to have an expression of the Board. No member desired to express himself on the subject.

Mr. Wood next made a suggestion, later incorporating it into a motion which failed to receive a second, that the licenses be granted provided that all saloons be closed at 9 o'clock at night and not be re-opened until 7 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Wood said a good many people had been after him for the further restriction of saloons in this respect and he would press the matter in the shape of a motion. There was no second of Mr. Wood's motion and the motion by Mr. O'Brien to grant the licenses was carried. Mr. Wood voted with some enthusiasm in the negative, rising in doing so.

Chairman O'Brien, of the Streets and Wharves Committee, secured uanimous consent and brought up a petition from Hall & Pearsall, Incorporated, stating that the firm is erecting a large office and warehouse building at Nutt and Brunswick streets, which will have three doors opening on Nutt street, and it is desired to remove the side track there slightly further into Nutt street, so as to leave room for a sidewalk about six feet in width. Mr. O'Brien said that there had been so much trouble about permits of this kind that he would not ask immediate action, but that the petition be referred to the Streets and Wharves Committee for report at the next meeting. It was so ordered.

Chairman W. H. Yopp, of the Sanitary Committee, asked for approval of certain drainage that would be done out of the $3,000 appropriation recently included in the budget. The work was authorized. Chairman Yopp reported that there was now no superintendent of trash carts in behalf of the city, but that an arrangement had been made with Chief Quarantine Officer Green to look after the streets in this respect with the aid of the three health officers. The private contract for removing the city garbage, the chairman thought, was working well. He said, however, no provision had been made for a carrion cart and he asked an appropriation of $500 for this work. This brought Alderman O'Brien to his feet and he said that the Sanitary Department also had been accustomed to cutting down the weeds on the streets. Mr. Yopp said this would be looked

PUBLIC SPIRIT FOR TOWN BUILDING.

There is something peculiarly attractive as well as wonderful in the development going on in North Carolina. The spirit and enterprise of the people at home, as well as the home and outside capital being invested is responsible for it. The splendid spirit of the new town of Canton, in the mountains of Haywood county, brings up these reflections. The board of Aldermen of that town on Monday ordered the engraving of the $65,000 of bonds recently voted by that town and they will be put on the market at an early day. It is recalled that when the town election was held in May to authorize the Aldermen to issue these bonds there was not a single vote against the proposition. The issue was for the purpose of grading and paving the streets and providing the town with waterworks, sewerage, electric lights and a public school building. There is something striking in the unanimity of the people of Canton in these progressive undertakings and the example is a shinning one for communities that would like to go forward but can't do so because the non-progressives block the way when it comes to making public improvements. It is to be hoped other communities will follow the example of Canton. The town that does things is the town that grows.

Where people pull together like the Canton folks they make progress. Two years ago the population of Canton was about 500. Now it is approaching the 3,000 mark and a correspondent says "the population is increasing faster than the carpenters can build houses to hold them." This marvelous growth is due to the location of the Champion Fibre Company, which is putting up a million dollar pulp-mill, which is said to be the largest in the world. The people appreciate the enterprise and instead of causing the company to regret its choice they have voted to make improvements that are worthy of the big enterprise in their midst.

It will be interesting to note that the fibre company is completing its railroad into the timber sections of the large area of land purchased by the company through the mountains. A correspondent writes this to the Charlotte Observer, under date of Monday:

"The Pigeon River Railway, which runs up the beautiful Pigeon river, extends from Canton to Sunburst, a distance of 17 miles. The railroad is financed chiefly by the Champion Fibre Company, which is building the million-dollar pulp mill here. The railroad will not only be used to transport the timber for the pulp mill, from Sunburst to Canton, but will also have regular passenger service. The timber will be brought down to Sunburst, from the tops of the big mountains, a distance of ten miles or more, by flumes and will there be loaded on cars.

"The grade will be an easy one for the entire distance, and most of the curves will be low degree ones. The average cost per mile for building the road will be about $10,000. The station at Sunburst will be over 3,200 feet in elevation, thus making it the second highest railroad station east of the Rocky Mountains. The highest point east of the Rockies is Balsam which is on the Southern Railway, its elevation being 3,348.

"The railroad will open up one of the best timbered sections of Haywood county, and the timber can be easily gotten to the railroad by flumes, which can be constructed at a very small cost.

"The contractors expect to finish the grading by the middle of August and the track will be laid and the road completed before contract time. Trains are expected to begin running on it by the first of October."

STRENGTH SACRIFICED TO SPEED.

The experience at the trial of the new fast motor boat named the Den off Bridgeport, Conn., about ten years ago, shows that it is not advisable to sacrifice strength for speed. The Den, which is owned by Charles F. Herreshoff, of Bridgeport, split in two and went down in an instant near the Lighthouse on the afternoon of its trial, leaving Herreshoff and a friend named Sherman clinging to cushions that floated and from which they were fortunately rescued, when about exhausted, by Captain Wright, of the Lighthouse. The cause of the accident was attributed to the speed of the boat; but that is only a partial explanation.

The Brooklyn Citizen believes that a fuller and better one would be that it was due to the weakness of the boat which was one of those experiments in boat building in which Capt. Nat Herreshoff displayed a talent that nearly reached the plane of genius, the object being to construct yachts for the America Cup contests, which would come as near to going to pieces from the strain of wnid and sea without actually doing so, as it was possible to do.

Following his lead, Charles F. constructed the Den of steel three sixteenths of an inch thin, and when he found that the engine gave her only 28 knots speed, he put in something heavier, and found on the trial that there is a limit to the notion that strength may safely be sacrificed to speed indefinitely. Really, as the poet pointed out in the line, "Build me strong, O Worthy Master," strength "to wrestle with disaster," is the first principle in shipbuilding.

TO TEACH COTTON GRADING.

A tri-State cotton grading school, at which methods of handling and selling cotton will be taught, is to be established at Memphis by the Tennessee Mississippi and Arkansas Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union, whose officers last week concluded a three days' session. This will be the first venture of the kind ever attempted outside of Texas. An official statement signed by the three State presidents, J. E. Montgomery, of Tennessee; J. B. Lewis, of Arkansas, and J. M. Bass, of Mississippi, gives the following explanation of the project:

"We have looked carefully into the establishment of this Tri-State Farmers' Union Cotton School in Memphis. The fact that various grades of cotton are to be found in Memphis and the students can become acquainted with the methods of handling and selling cotton is the main reasons, we have for uniting our efforts in this, our initiatory step.

"We fully appreciate the fact, as members of the Farmers' Union, that we are wholly inadequate to the task of grading our own cotton, that even should we warehouse our cotton without a knowledge of grade the farmers will still be at the mercy of the speculators and cotton buyers. In uniting our efforts we feel assured that we will have a strong student body, which will command the most expert cotton graders on the continent as instructors and also at a minimum cost of tuition."

EXPORTING OIL TO ICELAND.

A Philadelphia dispatch states that for the first time in the history of the United States petroleum trade a cargo will soon be shipped from Point Breeze to Reykjavik, Iceland. The Norwegian bark Arthur has just been chartered to carry the 5,000 barrels which make up the consignment.

The chartering of the bark Arthur for the Arctic regions has caused no little stir in export trade circles, as this shipment is in the nature of an experiment that will be watched with interest, especially by officials of the Standard Oil Company. Should the Icelanders not take kindly to Pennsylvania's oil product, what remains of the cargo will be diverted to Denmark.

For some reason or other petroleum exports since January 1 show a decided falling off from the corresponding period of last year. The total shipments have been 167,188,922 gallons, as compared to 184,237,998 gallons for the same period of 1906.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—A recklessly manipulated garden hose often causes a display of the drop-stitch variety.—Washington Post.

—President Roosevelt says a soiled hand looks as good to him as any other. How about the soiled campaign contribution?—The Commoner.

—English steamship lines between Bermuda and St. Johns offer facilities in transportation to our coast from Jacksonville to Maine. They can give better rates than our own ships, because our Republican policy denies owners the right to buy cheap ships. Our merchant marine has been swept off the seas by Republican legislation designed to foster it!—Jacksonville Times-Union.

—I believe we are witnessing a dissolution of positive religion, and an evolution of the religious idea and sentiment. It is irreligion that will conduct us to the true religion in the most absolute sense of the word; it is the dissolution of positive faith which will give to religious sentiment an extent and a depth hitherto unknown.—Ellen Key in Paris Mercure de France.

—The moonshiners of the Blue Ridge still refuse to acknowledge allegiance to the nation, as they did to the Confederacy, and they doubtless think it strange that the cause they served keeps them outside the entrenchments. They were patriots, and good Union men in a time of war—the same authorities now hold them as outlaws, and yet they are always consistent in being, like the Irishman, "agin the government." — Jacksonville Times-Union.

—According to the report of Prince d'Arenberg, Chairman of the Suez Canal Company, the year 1901 has beaten all previous records of the tonnage passing through the Suez Canal. Over half the tonnage registered is that of vessels flying the British flag—8,299,931 tons out of a total of 13,445,504. Germany comes next, a long way ahead of any other nation, with 2,155,552 tons, and France is third with 856,311. Steadily but surely Germany is distancing France and getting closer to England, and the fact is significant of the trend of events.—New York Times.

TWINKLINGS.

—The Gentle Feminine: "Gerty says she's twenty-one. Do you believe that? "Sure I do. To my certain knowledge she was all of that ten years ago."—Baltimore American.

—The Trouble with it: "Society dropped the De Lacys because they had a skeleton in their closet, I understand?" "No—because they didn't keep it there."—Cleveland Leader.

—Mrs. Redd—I want some pin money, dear. Mr. Redd—Why, I gave you $100 only day before yesterday? "I know it, dear; but that all went for fines for the chauffeur!"—Yonkers Statesman.

—No Beauty Prize for Him: Mrs. Smith (decidedly)—My husband and I had a clear understanding while we were engaged. Mr. Smith said he wanted a plain deal in marriage. Mrs. Jones (maliciously)—He needn't worry. He got it.—Baltimore American.

—Kept Jumping: "How's things in Lonelyville?" asked the first farmer. "Everybody's on the jump," replied the second farmer, proudly. "Then the automobiles have struck your town, too, have they?"—Yonker's Statesman.

—One on John: Mr. Crimsonbeak—My dear, it is said that the Greenland whale attains an age of 400 years. Mrs. Crimsonbeak—But, John, you must remember that he wouldn't unless he stuck to water!—Yonker's Statesman.

Long Lived Razors.

"How long have you had this razor?" asked the barber.

"A dozen years."

"Well," said he, "that is not bad. It's no record, though. Lots of my customers have razors that they've owned twenty and twenty-five years and used too. Why, one old man gets me to hone every three months a razor he bought over forty years ago. And it's such a good razor yet that this old man's son, whenever he wants a velvet shave, goes to his dad and borrows the veteran razor. A razor that with good use won't last twenty-five years is no razor at all."—New York Press.

Yourself.

If you wish to be miserable you must think about yourself, about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay you, and then to you nothing will be pure. You will spoil everything you touch, you will make sin and misery for yourself out of everything which God sends you and you will be as wretched as you choose.—Charles Kingsley.

His Last Retort.

The story is told of a well known Chicago criminal lawyer whose valuable services were retained by the wealthy relatives of a man accused of murder in a southwestern state.

The case was a bad one, for the evidence was overwhelmingly against the accused. Despite this fact the lawyer contrived by the skillful exercise of every trick and maneuver known to the profession to secure the disagreement of juries, delays, appeals, etc., till at last the case was brought before the supreme court of the United States.

One day in an interview between the prisoner and his counsel the former asked, "In case the supreme court should decide against me, what will be my next move?"

"To heaven, I hope," was the candid response of the lawyer.—St. Louis Republic.

Remarkable Rescue.

That truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper. He writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat, Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had fled, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing soon ceased; the bleding diminished rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work." Guaranteed cure for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 at R. R. MAKING THINGS DO.

Willing Sacrifices People Will Make In Time of War.

Not the only heroes of war were those who bore the musket and sword. The women and children who stayed at home and kept up heart in spite of the privations of siege are to be numbered among the valiant. A glimpse of some of the southern domestic economies during the civil war is given by Miss M. J. Walsh in her personal recollections printed by the Mississippi Historical society:

Among the glorious achievements of that time the makeshifts at home deserve recognition, for they represent ingenuity and willing sacrifice. As various articles gave out substitutes were found. If no substitute could be invented for an article we simply did without.

Coffee, the southerners' daily beverage, was manufactured from parched corn, burnt corn bread, even burnt molasses. Sweet potatoes cut into small squares, dried, parched and ground were also used. The stimulating effect was lacking, but it was all the better for our nerves. For tea, young raspberry leaves dried were used.

Sugar was a serious problem, and molasses was as precious as sugar.

"What shall we do when the present supply of Louisiana molasses gives out?" was a burning question, and the only answer was, "Do without."

Grits were eaten for rice. When we wanted soda we swept the fireplace clean and burned corncobs.

Mustard and pepper were made of home grown products. Salt was costly. Every bit was shaken off dry pork and used. All brine was boiled down and dried. Still the supply grew lower and lower. Some one discovered that the dirt floors of the old smokehouses were salt mines, so to speak. The dirt was put in hoppers and run down, the brine boiled and dried.

All new cloth had to be manufactured at home from raw material. The dyestuffs were made from roots, bark, walnuts and indigo.

Shoes were rough affairs made from the hides of beeves, cured by the negroes. Buttons were made of coarse thread or persimmon seeds. Caps were cut out of cloth and hats plaited from palmetto.

Letters were written on the blank leaves of books, the wrong side of wall scraps or old envelopes turned and pasted together.

Pure Love.

When a woman chooses a man with a bald head, a pair of bowlegs and a Saturday night pay check of $10 you can't accuse her of marrying for anything but pure, unalloyed, uncontaminated, unquestioned and undying love. —Lamar (Mo.) Democrat.

The concessions of the weak are the concessions of fear.—Burke.

MAKING A BALLOON.

Precautions Taken to Keep the Gas Bag From Destruction.

It may interest the reader to hear something about the construction of a big modern balloon and its equipments. It is made of what is known as balloon cloth, which sometimes is of silk and is sewed in small sections of about a yard square, so that if one of the sections should burst the whole balloon would not collapse and destroy the aeronaut.

At the top of the bag is the valve to let the gas out when one wishes to descend. A rope for opening it runs from this valve through the center of the balloon to the operator in the basket. The balloon is filled through the neck, and this is left always open, so that when the gas expands from the heat of the sun or the lesser pressure of high altitudes the gas may escape and not burst the envelope.

As soon as the balloon is sewed together it is blown full of air and given three coats of varnish. Each coat must be allowed to dry thoroughly before the next is applied, or else they would never become perfectly dry, and the balloon would be likely to be destroyed at any minute from spontaneous combustion. This spontaneous combustion is not a bursting into flame, but a kind of exceedingly quick dry rot. I myself have lost three balloons through it. Once in my factory we were looking at a beauty when some one sniffed the air and remarked, "Thomas' balloon is gone." And so it proved to be. Five minutes saw it destroyed—rotten so that you could poke your finger through it.

Sometimes the balloon is so affected in only a few sections, and a man may make an ascension thinking his balloon is all right. Protected by the fine netting which envelops the balloon itself, he may even get up to some height before discovering his danger. In former times there were many fatal accidents from this cause.

When a balloon is packed, talcum or some other powder is sprinkled over the folds to keep them from adhering to each other. If this is neglected the balloon will be ruined, especially in hot weather.

As I said, a fine netting covers the balloon proper both to strengthen it and to carry the weight of the basket and its contents. All the strands of the netting come together in the "concentrating ring," just above the basket, in which the aeronaut stands. The anchor and guide ropes as well as the basket are fastened to this concentrating ring.

All modern balloons, besides the valve, have a rip cord fastened to a long patch sewed in the envelope, by means of which the balloon can be cut in two and brought to earth instantly. This is never used except in case of extreme emergency and where the basket is within ten or fifteen feet of the ground.—Dr. J. P. Thomas in Appleton's.

SPEAKING THURSDAY NIGHT.

Prominent Cotton Association People Coming—Warehouse Plan.

A private letter yesterday from President Charles Cotton Moore, president of the North Carolina Division of the Southern Cotton Association, says that he will reach here tomorrow morning with General Organizer E. D. Smith and Mr. A. J. McKinnon, of the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Division, in the interest of the bonded warehouse system, so strongly urged at the late general convention of the cotton growers. Hon. E. D. Smith will speak in the Court House Thursday night, and the public in invited to hear him. He is an interesting and eloquent speaker on any subject and has the rare faculty of making interesting any topic which he treats. The ladies especially are invited to hear him. President Moore and Mr. Smith have been visiting a number of cities in the interior of the State, and they have met with most encouraging success and support. It is hoped that the business men will rally to a cause which means so much for the local port, directly and indirectly. Every man who does business in this city will be interested in the proposition which these gentlemen will present here Thursday.

It will be of interest to know in this connection that Baltimore is moving to establish just such a warehouse as it is proposed to build at this port. The men behind the cotton growers association are not idealists or sentimentalists; they come with a sound business proposition, and it is hoped that they can get the ear of the business community. The speaking is in the Court House at 8:30 o'clock Thursday night and the public is invited to hear the speakers.

President L. B. Rogers, of the Merchants Association, has received a letter from Mr. McKinnon in regard to the meeting here and Mr. Rogers asks all members of the Association to hear Mr. Smith Thursday night.

JUSTICE BORNEMANN'S COURT

Several Interesting Cases Investigated By Him Yesterday.

Justice Bornemann was called upon to investigate several interesting cases yesterday. The first to engage his attention was that of R. W. King, white, charged by his wife with threatening to kill her and by Constable Savage with disorderly conduct and contempt of court in leaving the city after being recognized for his appearance at trial. The warrants were sworn out June 17th, 1906, but as he left the city soon after, the cases against his were not tried. He was brought back to the city several days ago and the old charges were taken up, his wife still maintaining she was afraid of him. After hearing the case the justice ordered him to give $100 justified bond to keep the peace 12 months and sentenced him to 30 days on the county roads for contempt. He was given an additional 30 days for disorderly conduct. He was unable to give bond and was sent to jail.

Banks Rodwell was tried on the charge of violating the quarantine law in going out when he was quarantined with smallpox. The warrant was sworn out by Dr. W. D. McMillan, county superintendent of health. The justice fined him $20 and costs, but as Dr. McMillan requested it, the fine was remitted.

after by the contractors. Mr. O'Brien said there would be many little things coming up from time to time and he would not be surprised if it was ascertained yet that this contract work is going to be the dearest after all. He had been opposed to it from the start; that while he had no personal objection to the contractors, he didn't believe they themselves knew the amount of work involved.

Mr. King made a speech on the subject, saying the whole matter was in confusion. He couldn't understand why the Board of Audit and Finance was so glib to make appropriations for this contract when they couldn't allow an appropriation for another health officer.

Mr. Yopp made an explanation of the position of the Board of Audit and Finance.

Mr. O'Brien took exceptions to members of the Board of Aldermen running to the Board of Audit and Finance and fixing up things before they came to the Aldermen. It was not treating the Board of Aldermen with proper respect.

On the question of an appropriation of $500 for a carrion cart, after further cross-firing, the vote was 8 to 2, Messrs. O'Brien and Bolles voting in the negative.

The Mayor regretted that members of the Street Commission were not present, with the exception of Mr. Geo. H. Heyer, who thought perhaps other members not present because they had not received written notice. The Mayor disclaimed any discourtesy to the members of the Commission and regretted that there had been any misunderstanding. He certainly held members of the Commission in the highest regard and regretted the seeming offense taken by some of the members who had not received a formal, written invitation to be present. He said he would at once address a communication to the chairman, explaining the inadvertence and would ask the Street Commissioners to be present at the regular meeting next Monday night, at which time the arrangement as to the repair of the streets would be gone fully into.

TRYING ORDEAL FOR MISS LOVING

street when W. B. Lee, a kinsman of his wife, told him that Dr. Strother said that Theodore Estes had informed him (Strother) that Elizabeth was drunk and to treat her for that and say nothing of it. Snead said that Dr. Strother had come to him and requested him to communicate it to me.

"Harry returned home that night and decided to tell me. I was shocked and sent for my wife who went after Elizabeth in a surry, returning with her.

"After dinner I told Elizabeth of the conversation with Harry Snead. She got down on her knees and began sobbing and said that Sunday evening Theodore Estes invited her to go buggy riding with him. They drove down to the house where Theodore Estes lives and he got out and remained for some time. They then drove, she said, in the direction of Gap. Estes produced a bottle of whiskey and offered her a drink. She declined but later did take a drink and soon began to feel dizzy and queer. She requested him to drive fast and return home instead of continuing to Lovington. He went rapidly up the mountains in an opposite direction. After that she became unconscious and did not know what happened. When asked if Estes had assaulted her she said Estes had forced himself upon her and she had only a faint recollection. This revelation came to me as a thunder bolt from a clear sky. I loved my daughter and no power on earth could have restrained my hands."

The witness began to weep when he came to the part of the statement about his love for his daughter. Continuing Loving said:

"In this condition of mind I went out, intending to put that man to death. I got my shot gun and drove alone to Lovington. When I got there I called a boy and asked for Estes, but found he was at Oak Ridge. I went to Oak Ridge and inquired for Estes. I learned that Estes was in a car at the station. I then turned my horse to a livery stable and got out of the buggy and loaded my gun. I saw Estes in the car with two negroes and waved them aside and said to Estes: 'You are the young man who takes the ladies out driving and drugs and ruins them.' I heard no reply and when he made a motion as to leave the car I shot him. I then surrendered myself to the nearest magistrate."

Judge Loving stated that no record was made of his language at the preliminary hearing and he could not recall the identical words. The witness in reply to questions stated that for two months prior to the killing he had not drank any whiskey. He related his struggle with the whiskey habit and how it had injured him even to the extent of separating him from his wife. He then told of going to an institution for inebriates in 1895 and from that date did not drink until 1904. The witness stated that since October, 1905, he had gone on sprees which impaired his health and his mind. He had suffered several times, he said, with delirum tremens.

Harry Snead, who lives in the Oak Ridge farm and who is assistant manager of the estate of Thomas F. Ryan was the next witness. He corroborated Judge Loving.

WARM WIRELETS.

The body of Seaman Frank B. Plumblee, the last of the missing victims of the Minnesota's launch disaster, was recovered from Hampton Roads yesterday.

The first bale of new cotton to arrive at New York sold at auction in front of the Cotton Exchange yesterday. Latham, Alexander & Co. were the successful bidders. The purchase prices was forty cents per pound.

The executive committee of the Telegarphers' Union, at New York, has asked the Postal Telegraph Company to hear and discuss complaints from its employes, and the committee accuses the company of violating its agreement as to its employes in Chicago.

Presidents of Illinois railroads have agreed that there shall be no immediate contest of the two-cent rate law, which becomes effective July 1. The plan of the railroads officials as announced yesterday at Chicago, is put the rate into effect later, should passenger earnings show a deficiency to go into court in an effort to have the rate law declared confiscatory.

The Interstate Commerce Commission was deluged yesterday with petitions and complaints concerning railroad matters. There were 37 petitions urging the Commission to require several railroads to repay to shippers of yellow pine from Southern points amounts held under a decision of the Supreme Court to be excessive rates.

John Johnson, colored, about 55 years old, was arrested in Brooklyn, N. Y., yesterday, charged with having murdered his wife in Charlotte, N. C., two years ago. The arrest was made by Sergeant Pitts, of the Charlotte police department, and a loical officer. Johnson will be held to await extradition.

The report sent out from Atlanta Monday night to the effect that the Baltimore & Ohio was believed to have acquired the Central of Georgia was denied in Baltimore yesterday by the Baltimore & Ohio officials. They said that there is no foundation for the report and cannot imagine where it originated.

One of the most peculiar accidents ever seen on an eastern race track occurred at Sheepshead Bay, New York, yesterday. Paulaker, a starter in the steeplechase, fell at the third jump and ran away four miles. At the end of the fourth he tried to jump the fence at the paddock turn and turned a complete somersault, breaking his neck. He was owned by H. Graham and was considered a very valuable horse.

DOOR KEYS IN SWEDEN

Curious Custom of Hanging Them Outside the Doors.

HOUSES LOCKED, YET OPEN.

The Dangling Key Informs You the Tenants Are Out, but Friends Who Call Are at Liberty to Unlock the Door and Enter and Rest.

When the Swedes go calling, they lock up and then hang the door key on the bell or the doorknob or some other conspicuous place. When they go visiting for a few weeks, bolts and bars are slid into place, and then out goes the key. If the house is shut up for an entire season or a full year, the gayly swinging door key says "Not at home" to passersby.

There is no kicking your heels on the doormat in Sweden while the bell or knocker awakes the echoes in an empty house. Agents, peddlers, friends and relatives all know this message of the door key and seeing it out pass by.

As can be readily imagined, this strange custom has been put to good use in many instances when visitors were not wanted. Instead of telling the maid to inform callers that Mrs. Jones is not at home the mistress says to Jennie: "Hang out the door key at 3 o'clock this afternoon and bring it in at 5. I don't wish to see any one for a few hours."

About the first of the month in certain districts door keys swing to the breezes in great numbers, and collectors, knowing the custom and also its misuse, scratch their heads in perplexity at this not at home signal.

Many amusing stories are told of creditors sitting down to await the return of their man while the debtor sat on the other side of the locked door and chuckled. There have been instances where a collector has taken the key, unlocked the door and entered the house to be met by the owner, who calmly laughed over his ruse. Again a creditor has entered a house in which he supposes the owner to be hiding only to find it vacant and to be caught by the irate master, arrested and made to pay a fine, while the debtor got an extension of time on his bill.

These illegitimate uses of this very old custom of not only leaving the latchstring out, but also putting the door key at the disposal of all who pass, are not discovered at first glance, and they are really very much in the minority, for Sweden is pre-eminently an honest land. In and around about Stockholm there is very little need of policemen or strong boxes, for every man, however low down in the social scale, seems to have due respect for another's property.

Although a few of the more suspicious, or the foreigners who have not been brought up in this strange custom of leaving the door key out, may lock up with bolts from the inside and use another door for exit when they leave home for an extended visit, the old residents actually leave their homes at the disposal of any who may care to enter.

Friends who call and find the key out feel at perfect liberty to unlock the door, enter and rest a bit before passing on. Strangers seldom misuse the confidence.

The custom started ages ago when it was the usual thing for "holy men" or priests to travel through Swedish villages, stopping to leave their blessing on the households of the neighborhood. These visits were looked forward to with eagerness by the pious Swedes, and it was considered an act of grossest discourtesy to bar the door, for whatever reason, against a holy man. Consequently if a family left home the key was always put out against the arrival of the priest. Meat and drink were left, and should the holy man stop at a vacant house he entered, refreshed himself, left his blessing in the form of a candle or a bottle of holy water or a bit of consecrated green and passed. Thus the custom originated, and, although these quaint villages have become towns and traveling priests have passed away and the influx of other nations has modernized Sweden and brought the evil of theft with it, the door keys still hang out as evidence of trust and open doored hospitality.

A thief seldom takes down one of the keys and enters, for there is the uncertainty about the absence of the residents spoken of to hold him back, and the knowledge that an exposed door key may merely mean that the owner has stepped across to the store and will return any minute makes tampering with property risky business.

These facts, together with the big one that Swedes are one of the most honest people on the face of the globe, make a custom safe there which would be a foolhardy tempting of misfortune in our "land of the free."—Los Angeles Times.

Found an Excuse.

One Easter a Methodist minister in the south wrote to J. Pierpont Morgan and asked him to subscribe to the erection of a new church.

"Since I am an Episcopalian," Mr. Morgan wrote back, "I can't conscientiously join this Easter subscription to the building of a Methodist church. Before erecting your new church, though, you are going, I understand, to tear the old church down. For that purpose I gladly inclose my check for $250."

To please will always be the wish of benevolence; to be admired, the constant aim of ambition.—Dr. Johnson.

THE GILA MONSTER.

Strange Ways of This Dreaded and Hard Biting Reptile.

Of some of the strange ways of the gila monster, that little known creature of the southwestern deserts, a correspondent writes: "I have had some experiences with Gila monsters and can state that, no matter what scientists may claim, the Gila monster is a good thing to shun. Indians and Mexicans have a horror of it and fear it more than a rattlesnake. I believe that the bite of the Gila monster is dangerous because of the creature's habit of eating lizards, bugs and rodents and then lying on sand so hot that it blisters the hands and feet of men. The heat causes the food to putrefy in the stomach, evidenced by the fact that the teeth are often covered with a fermented, putrefied froth from the food. A bite has the same effect as the cut of a dissecting knife used on a cadaver—in other words, the inoculation of a deadly poison.

"When frightened or angry he can move quite rapidly. That short, thick, stubby tail is used in jumping, just as a kangaroo uses his tail. The Gila monster bites like a bulldog and has the tenacity of a snapping turtle. I once saw some men teasing a Gila monster brought to Tucson. A string was tied around his neck. The Gila monster was crawling around on the ground, trying to get away, but was pulled back by the string. This was carried on till the creature became furious. The crowd around the Gila monster knew nothing of his power to spring. Suddenly he sprung up and bit a man among the crowd on the hand, leaping fully two feet from the ground.

"Another instance, this of a man whose chief object seems to have been a foolhardy display of fearlessness. He was holding one of the monsters in his hand by the back of its neck, so it could not bite him. He dropped his hand to the side of his leg. The Gila monster shut his teeth down on his heavy duck overalls, taking a double piece out where the cloth folded as quickly as a pair of scissors could have cut the fabric and as cleanly."—Chicago News.

ABUSE OF THE DEAD.

Queer Custom of the Bagas Forehs of French Guinea.

The Bagas Forehs, who live in French Guinea, quit life in a manner anything but commonplace. When a man dies his wife and children do not lament him. Instead they are angry at having been abandoned. They prop the body up against the house with the forked branch of a tree and invite their friends and relatives to come, all of whom are furious that one of their own has left them. When all the guests have arrived the wife of the deceased advances and addresses what was once her husband in a way well calculated to scare his ghost away from the neighborhood.

"There now, listen! You'd leave me, would you? So you don't want to live with me? Why do you do this way? Haven't I always been a good wife to you? Haven't I been a good mother to your children? Haven't your rice and fish always been well cooked? Have you anything to reproach me with? Nothing. Then shall not you go? Coward! Traitor! You shall not leave without receiving the correction that such conduct deserves."

Then the blows begin to rain down upon the poor defenseless figure. Presently the tired wife gives place to the children, and they in turn to the relatives and friends, all of whom similarly abuse it. At length, with a natural human impulse, their fury spent, they try to make amends to the hapless corpse. They bathe it and bury it a meter deep inside the house, and each day at the dinner hour the family places on the tomb some grains of rice and a little palm wine for refreshment of the soul should it return.—Washington Post.

Origin of Cork Legs.

"A cork leg?" said the dealer. "Why, man, a cork leg would crumble under you like a leg of bread. You don't want a cork leg, but an elm or willow one. A leg was never made of cork since the world's beginning. But many people think as you do, and I'll tell you how the fallacy originated. The inventor of the modern artificial leg—the leg instead of the stick—was John Cork. Cork's legs, or cork legs, were famous around 1810. And whenever a man makes your mistake he pays an unconscious tribute to Cork's skill."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Winston-Salem, June 24: During a storm in the western part of this county last evening lightning struck a large barn belonging to County Commissioner Albert Wharton, near Clemons, killing seven horses, besides destroying the barn, which contained valuable farming machinery, feed, etc. The storm extended into Stokes county and did much damage to the Episcopal Church and other buildings in and around Germantown. Hundreds of trees were uprooted and many valuable orchards were destroyed.

—Concord, June 24: The coroner's inquest over the death of Ella Honeycutt, killed at Harrisburg last Friday night by southbound train No. 39, ended its investigation at 6 o'clock this afternoon after an all-day session. The evidence of the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Honeycutt, and that of Engineer Lineberger, was taken in full, but nothing was produced tending to show foul play or suicide. Much interest in the outcome has been felt here today, as many theories had been offered while the investigation was going on behind closed doors. Ella Honeycutt bore a good reputation as to behavior.

—Weldon News: The town lock-up had a peculiar prisoner last week, so we are informed by Chief Dickens. It appears that an old colored woman had been placed in the town lock-up on account of her being unable to fork over $5 and costs for being disorderly. Later Mayor Gooch instructed the chief to give the old woman her liberty, provided she would leave town. The doors were thrown open, she being the only occupant, and she was informed that she could depart in peace. Several hours later Chief Dickens had occasion to visit the lock-up. To his surprise the woman was seated upon the bed enjoying a dip of snuff. She had made up the beds in both cells,swept the floors of the cells, vestibule and the jail yard and to all appearances was happy and contented. She explained that she had no objection to the place, whatever, provided she was not locked up in the cell.

—Elizabeth City, June 24: Governor R. B. Glenn and his party, composed of Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes, State Treasurer B. R. Lacy, and State Superintendent of Instruction J. Y. Joyner, arrived in the city this morning on the 8:50 train from Edenton on a visit to inspect the sites offered by Elizabeth City for the location of the Normal Training School. They were met at the depot by a number of the city's most prominent citizens in carriages and the Governor and his party were taken into the carriages and driven through the city. A number of sites were visited and inspected by the visitors. The party drove back to the depot to take the 10:30 train back to Edenton. Being late the carriages were being driven at a high rate of speed down Pennsylvania avenue, when some of the trappings of the Governor's carriage broke. The horse took fright and began to run. Governor Glenn, Judge Leigh and Mr. H. T. Greenleaf, the gentlemen occupying the carriage, jumped from the carriage to escape the perilous situation. They escaped unhurt and reached the train in time for the Governor to depart with his party.

—Salisbury, June 24: At a congregational meeting yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Byron C. Clarke, of Mount Washington Church, Baltimore, was called to the Salisbury pastorate, which has been several months without a regular pastor. Dr. Clarke was here two weeks ago and his morning and evening sermons were so impressive that yesterday when the call was extended, there was unanimous approval by a rising vote. The call goes to him unsought and unexpected. Dr. Clarke is a native of North Carolina, who was born in Bladen county and was educated at Davidson College. He has served 10 years in the Baltimore parish and is able and gifted. He has bring here, if he comes, a charming family and the prayers of the church are for his decision. The First Presbyterian congregation has been served a long time by two ministers. Rev. Dr. Jethro Rumple was pastor 45 years, and was succeeded by Rev. John H. Grey in the Spring of 1904. Mr. Grey's health has given out and the pulpit is supplied by occasional ministerial visitations. The congregation is a large one.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

The Greensboro Keeley Institute!

The Only one in North Carolina

Note of Warning

To The Public:

The Keeley Cure has now been in successful operation for 28 consecutive years and the merits and reputation of the Dr. Leslie E. Keeley Remedies have been throughly established. Because of this fact, many imitators are seeking to turn this knowledge to their own advantage by falsely claiming that they are able to sell and administer our remedies and treatment. It should be borne in mind that the Keeley Remedies are only to be obtained at establishments known by the uniform name of The Keeley Institute. There is one or more of these establishments in nearly every State in the Union, besides several in foreign countries. THERE IS ONLY ONE KEELEY INSTITUTE IN THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, AND THAT IS LOCATED AT GREENSBORO. At all Keeley Institutes the remedies used are procured from our laboratory, and in all cases they are administered by physicians who have been especially instructed by us. It follows, therefore, that all other establishments claiming to be able to sell our remedies and administer our treatment are obtaining money under false pretenses and will be dealt with accordingly. The public is warned that under no circumstances can Keeley remedies or treatment be obtained except at authorized Keeley Institutes. These imitators sometimes adopt similar names to those by which our remedies are known, but if patients will take pains to see that they are in an authorized Keeley Institute they need not fear imposition. The Keeley remedies will cure inebriety, all kinds of drug using, the tobacco habit and neurasthenia; they are never administered in hospitals and no patients are treated at Keeley Institutes for other than the above named diseases.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE, at Greensboro, N. C., is the only one in this State, and all representations that there is in this State any cure that is identical with or the same as the Keeley Double Chloride of Gold Cure, are malicious, false and made for the purpose of deceiving. We learn with indignant regret that such claim is being made, and feeling that if it be hurtful to us it will prove even more disastrous to those who are deceived thereby, we sound this note of warning.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 25.—After some little irregularity early in the day the cotton market advanced and closed at a net gain of 12@23 points. Sales of the day were estimated at 300,000 bales. Opening was barely steady at an advance of 2@12 points, August showing maximum gain on covering of shorts, higher cables than expected and support from recent buyers. But offerings were quite heavy at the advance, particularly of the new crop positions owing to the favorable weather reported in the South and expectations of a bearish weekly report from the Weather Bureau at midday. Prices eased off to a net decline of about 1 to 5 points on the more active months under these offerings with August continuing hold over the closing figures of yesterday. Then the whole list firmed up on more aggressive buying by bull leaders and a more urgent demand from shorts. The high point was reached in the last few minutes of the day and the closing was within 2 or 3 points of the best. The weekly report of the Weather Bureau was quite as favorable as had been expected and had evidently been discounted in advance. Private reports from the South continued bullish and rumors were afloat concerning the possibility of an end-season squeeze which restricted shorts.

Receipts at the ports today, 5,944 bales, against 7,116 last week and 7,605 last year. For the week, 25,000 bales, against 25,948 last week, and 30,798 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 676 bales, against 2,799 last year and at Houston 689 bales, against 2,702 last year.

Spot cotton closed firm, 10 points higher; middling uplands, 13.10; middling Gulf, 13.25; sales, none. Futures opened barely steady and closed firm.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 25.—The dry goods markets were very active during the day. Staple merchandise is in active call. In the primary markets conditions remain quiet, but very firm. The export trade is small but steady. Cotton yarns are quiet and very firm. Linings are dull because of the high prices asked for grey goods and the advances that are being named on nearly all staple fabrics. Dress goods in cottons are more active.

TRYING ORDEAL FOR MISS LOVING

Virginia Girl Makes An Awful Revelation to Save Father's Life.

DRANK WHISKEY WITH ESTES

He Took Advantage of Her and Paid Forfeit With His Life—Judge Loving Tells Court of His Deed.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Houston, Va., June 25.—Between stifling sobs, with tears streaming from her bright blue eyes and vainly struggling to control her emotions, Miss. Elizabeth Loving, who has occupied the center of the stage in the trial of her father, Judge William C. Loving, for the murder of Theodore Estes, told on the witness stand here today the story of her alleged wrong at the hands of the young man her parent shot down. The recital was probably the most dramatic ever heard in a Virginia court of justice and rivalled if not surpassed in point of atrociousness the story told by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, of her experience with Stanford White. It was the same story she said she told to her father on the day of the tragedy. The dead man, she declared gave her a drink of whiskey from a flask he had in his pocket while they were buggy riding the day prior to the killing. After taking the drink she said, she immediately began to feel dizzy, and her brain whirled as if she had been given some powerful drug. In this condition and despite her protests, her escort drove her through a road not frequently used and despite her screams wronged her. Exhausted by the struggle and her mental faculties upset by the stimulant, she did not recall anything more until she regained her senses in bed late that night at the home of County Clerk Kidd, where she had been visiting. On the following morning, when he father asked her to explain how she came to be brought to the home of Mr. Kidd in an unconscious and drugged condition, she related to him on bended knees the same story she told today. It was this recital, declared the defence, which so wrought up Judge Loving that he was impelled to hunt up young Estes and take his life. Whether the story told by the nineteen year old girl today can be weakened by the prosecution remains to be seen and on the disproving of this story hangs the fate of the defendant. The State claims that it can be shown that the crime imputed to the man, whose lips are sealed forever, was impossible. The rebuttal by the prosecution will be probably the most important as well as the most sensational of the case. The admission was wrung from Miss Loving that she had taken two drinks with young Estes during the drive, the first one being while at Estes' store. She was asked about other occasions, when it is charged that she drank whiskey, but the defense objected on the ground that it had no bearing on the case. The prosecution waived the question for the present, but may insist upon pressing it later in the trial. Aside from the testimony of the young girl, the examination of two physicians concerning the possible insanity of Judge Loving at the time of the killing and the testimony of the defendant himself and Harry Snead, were features of the day's proceedings.

Dr. W. M. Tunstall, who saw Judge Loving before and after the killing testified that he thought Loving committed the crime while insane. Tunstall is a practicing physician of Nelson county and upon cross-examination acknowledged that he was no expert on insanity. His theory that Judge Loving was insane was that he failed to speak to him in passing before the killing and after the deed "his head hung low and he was pale," coupled with his personal knowledge of Judge Loving, who he said frequently "got on drunken debauches," ending in delirum tremens. Dr. Melvin, who has for years practiced in this county, testified about the effect on the mind and faculties by an excessive drinking.

At the adjournment of court yesterday the defendant had just begun to relate a conversation with his brother-in-law, Harry Snead, who told him of the alleged drugging of his daughter, which led to the killing, when the attorneys for the prosecution objected on the grounds that Judge Loving's would be hearsay evidence. Judge Barksdale this morning rendered his opinion which allowed Judge Loving to relate the conversation with Snead, thus scoring a victory for the defense. Judge Loving then took the stand and testified that on the morning of April 22nd Harry Snead came into his office and with some hesitation said he had a most painful story to tell as to an occurrence to his daughter. Snead said while he was out buggy riding on the evening prior he saw Elizabeth Loving and Theodore Estes out riding.

E. L. Kidd, came to the home of Stevens and inquired for Snead saying that Miss Loving had returned from her buggy ride in a bad condition. Continuing the witness said:

"Snead went to the room at Mrs. Kidd's and saw Miss Loving in bed. She was delirious and her condition was pitiful. Snead said in the parlor of the Kidd home he saw Mrs. Kidd and Theodore Estes and told them that he would go for a doctor. Estes, however, insisted in getting a doctor himself. Dr. Strother arrived and she did not recognize him. Harry said that my daughter was in the care of Dr. Strother. He then went down the

Washington Government Has Ordered Three Warships to Central American Waters

GENERAL WAR IS PROBABLE

President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, Ambitious to Conquer Other Republics Into One Union—Situation Reported Threatening.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, June 25.—The possibility of serious trouble in Central America growing out of the disturbed conditions existing there incidental to the alleged ambition of President Zelaya, of Nicaragua to form a union of Central American States, has caused the administration to dispatch the fine new cruiser Milwaukee to that locality Orders for her to proceed forthwith from the Mare Island Navy Yard California, went forward from the Navy Department today. The vessel is in command of Commander Charles A. Gove, and will go to Launion, San Salvador. The collier Saturn also has been directed to proceed to Launion and from this vessel the Milwaukee and the gunboat Yorktown, which is now at Acajutla will coal. The stay of the Milwaukee in Central American waters is problematical and will in a measure depend upon the conditions that develop in that section of the world. She goes ostensibly "for the protection of American interests" which are threatened because of the situation as it now exists. The cruiser St. Louis, now on her way to a Brazilian port, is enroute to the Pacific coast and will arrive in Central American waters in about two months. It may be that she will relieve the Milwaukee in the event that the administration decides to have that vessel return north and it is deemed necessary to continue the presence of two American vessels in that section.

The State Department today received a cablegram from American Minister Lee at Guatemala City stating that the situation in Salvador is disquieting; that both Guatemala and Salvador are sending troops to the frontier.

Coupled with the news received by the State Department reporting disquiet in Salvador and the movement of troops to the frontier by both Salvador and Guatemala, is the information received by Senor Mejia, the Minister from Salvador, to the effect that news has reached his government that Nicaragua is planning another expedition against it. The information comes in a dispatch to the Minister from President Figueroa. No details are available regarding the expedition.

Less than two weeks ago an expedition, which it was reported was armed and equipped by President Zelaya and which was carried aboard the Nicaraguan gunboat Mometobo, landed at Acajutla and made an unsuccessful attempt to proceed inland.

Ever since he became involved in trouble with Mexico in connection with the assassination of former President Barillas, President Cabrera of Guatemala, has been apprehensive that his neighbor, President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, would seize the opportunity to overthrow him by attacking from without and formenting a revolution from within, and this is believed to explain the co-operation with the President of Salvador.

PITTSBURG BRIBER CONVICTED.

Man Furnished $70,000 to Buy Up the City Council.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Pittsburg, Pa., June 25.—Charles R. Richardson was convicted in the criminal court today of conspiring with Harvey P. Bostaph, Joseph Flaherty and J. H. Milholl, to attempt to bribe councilmen to pass the Pittsburg and Tube City Railroad franchise ordinance. It was charged that Richardson furnished C. S. Cameron, president of the Pittsburg and Tube City Railroad, with $70,000, with which to do the alleged bribing of councilmen. The money later disappeared, resulting in charges being made against Councilman Wm. A. Martin, who was recently convicted; Engineer J. H. Milholl, of the railroad, and Joseph Flaherty, President Cameron and others. The case of President Cameron will be tried tomorrow.

HARRY ORCHARD STORY ATTACKED

Haywood's Attorneys Introduce Witnesses to Show Malice Against Steunenberg.

OFTEN THREATENED HIM

Orchard's Motive For Murder Was Because Steunenberg Interfered With His Being Rich Man. Several Witnesses Heard.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Boise, Idaho, June 25.—The first direct testimony in defense of Wm. D. Haywood was offered today. It was chiefly directed toward showing that Harry Orchard, blaming Frank Steunenberg for the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine, had threatened to have revenge by killing him and that the conduct of Orchard and K. C. Sterling, both before the Independence explosion, when they were frequently seen together and afterwards when Sterling called off a bloodhound that was following Orchard's trail, justified the inference that the mine owners inspired the crime.

The calling of the first witness for the defense was preceded by a further examination of Orchard to permit the defence to complete its formal impeaching questions. These were nearly all in connection with the claim that Orchard killed Steunenberg because of an alleged grudge growing out of the sale of his interest in the Hercules mine.

Orchard, who came into court under protection of the same squadron of guards that always acts as his escort, maintained his old calmness and spoke in the same low pitched, soft tone. He again denied that he ever threatened to kill Steunenberg because of the Hercules mine and again asserted that he sold his interest in the mine two years before the trouble that drove him out of Northern Idaho. Two witnesses called later in the day swore that Orchard did threaten to kill Steunenberg because of the Hercules matter and the defense has prepared the way for such testimony from a dozen more wit- F. R. Redd, once of Cripple Creek, and now of Goldfield, Nev., and Cahrles A. Sullivan, formerly of Cripple Creek and now a watchman in the Brown Hotel in Denver.

Redd said he heard Orchard make the statement and threat at Miners' Hall, at Cripple Creek, and Sullivan swore that while he and Orchard were fellow boarders at John Neville's place in Cripple Creek, Orchard, repeatedly said that but for Steunenberg he would be a rich man, and that he intended to kill him. The cross-examination showed that both were members of the Western Federation of Miners, and that Sullivan was a friend of Haywood, Moyer and many of the union leaders at Cripple Creek.

Dr. I. L. McGee, a mining broker of the Couer D'Alene, another impeaching witness, swore that Orchard told him in 1904 at Wallace, Idaho, that he was a "spotter" for a detective agency. Orchard denied this conversation; denied that he was in Idaho at any time in 1904.

Several witnesses, principally women who kept lodging houses at Cripple Creek, located Orchard at various conferences with Sterling ,the detective for the Mine Owner's Association, prior to the Independence explosion, and there was a further showing as to meetings between Orchard and D. C. Scott ,the detective for the Florence and Cripple Creek Railway. Another witness told of the effort to locate men guilty of the Independence station outrage by starting a blood hound from the chair rung used in pulling off the mine explosion. He said the dog took the trail to Colorado Springs, the one over which Orchard fled in the night, and that when he reported to Sterling he got orders to call the dog off. Sterling said he knew who blew up the station and later said that Steve Adams had done so.

The State fought the admission of the bloodhound story and also opposed the admission of evidence covering general features of the Colorado labor law, but in both instances the court ruled with the defense.
